I joined Taylor Logistics in October of 2007. Having been involved in the transportation industry since 1990, I am familiar with many areas of logistics from routing to dispatch and back haul. It is my goal to help keep transportation costs within acceptable limits and maintain on time and just-in-time pick up and delivery schedules. It is critical to both my customers and their customers that product arrives at its destination on time and in the same condition as when it was originally shipped. It is always satisfying when everything comes together and all parties involved are happy with the results. That is my main concern; customer satisfaction. I have lived in Cincinnati all my life. I graduated from Walnut Hills High School and the University of Cincinnati. My son and his wife are both school teachers and coaches. Watching them do what they love gives me great pleasure. I am also excited about the birth of my first grandson.
